

New Chairman and Deputy Chairman for The International Benefits Network

The International Benefits Network (IBN), a worldwide network providing employee benefits services, has announced the election of a new Chairman and Deputy Chairman. The new Chairman is Neil Hendry of Avalon Actuarial Inc, Toronto. The new Deputy Chairman is Robert Heiligers of HDI-Gerling Pensionsmanagement AG in Cologne.

“The new Chairman and Deputy Chairman will continue our efforts to serve our clients more effectively as we expand our global benefits capacity,” said the outgoing Chairman, Dominique Edmé of Siaci Saint Honore in France, who has completed a very successful four year term of office.

IBN is comprised of a network of recognized leaders in employee benefit consulting and actuarial services in Europe, Asia/Pacific, Africa and the Americas. Each member has extensive expertise in the areas of benefit planning and design, financial/investment strategies, and mergers and acquisitions.

For more information on the International Benefits Network, call +44 (0) 118 958 0195 or visit www.intlben.com.

For immediate release.

Contact Melvin Nightingale at 0118 958 0195

Email: mn@intlben.com.

July 2009